

Terms and Conditions for Anspec Portal:

1. Access Privileges:

- Access to the Anspec portal is restricted to authorized users only. Each user is responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of their login credentials.

2. Prohibited Activities:

- Users shall not engage in any illegal or unauthorized use of the information provided on the portal site. Unauthorized distribution, reproduction, or modification of the information is strictly prohibited.

3. Confidentiality Agreement:

- By accessing the portal site, users agree to adhere to a confidentiality agreement, pledging not to misuse or disclose any confidential information obtained from the site.

4. Intellectual Property Rights:

- All information, content, and materials provided on the portal site are protected by intellectual property laws.
- Users shall respect and uphold the intellectual property rights of the portal site and its content providers.

6. Modification of Terms:

- These terms and conditions are subject to change at any time without prior notice.
- Users are responsible for regularly reviewing the terms to stay informed of any updates or modifications.
- By accessing and using the portal site, users acknowledge and agree to abide by these terms and conditions. Failure to comply with these terms may result in disciplinary action.

Disclaimer:

The information provided on the Anspec portal is for informational purposes only. Anspec does not guarantee the accuracy, completeness, or suitability of the information for any particular purpose. Users acknowledge that the use of the information is at their own risk, and the Anspec shall not be liable for any damages or losses arising from the use or misuse of the information provided.

Changes to This T&C

We may update this T&C from time to time to reflect changes in our practices or for other operational, legal, or regulatory reasons.

Contact Us

If you have any questions or concerns about our T&C, please contact us at domesticorders@anspec.com.au